Where goes the nazi criminal?

New York. After many years of procrastination, the American administration bas finally de-cided to deport the notorious nozi criminal of Russiaa origin Ivan Demyanyuk. The Special Investigations Department la Waehington has announced that Domyanyuk is to leave the United States within a month.

Ivaa Demyaayuk described as "butcher Ivan" la responsible for numerous crimes in World War II. Alter enrolling in the service of the nazia, he was sent as an overseer to the Treblinks camp where tens of thousands of Russiana, Poles and Jaws bad heen conlined. Press raporte say he personally killed thousands ol people.

This was well known to the euthorities in the United States to where Demyanyuk fled after the war learing a deserving pu-nishment. Il was only in the '80s that, under pressure from the world public, the cose of Demyanyuk's deportation was taken up hy an American court. In 1981 e lower court deciderl to airip Demyenyuk of American cilizenship and expel him from the United Stotes. Although four years have passed since "butcher lvan" still lives in the United States.
